

Sending DVR TG Information to Out of State Schools

Do not send a copy of the DVR training grant to out of state public and private schools.

DVR has agreements with Wisconsin public schools in which the schools agreed that financial aids available through FAFSA would be used for educational expenses prior to using any DVR funding. DVR does not have similar agreements with out of state schools. Consequently, out of state financial aid offices may choose to decrease or take away financial aid grants once notified of the amount of the DVR grant. This violates the Federal Regulations that requires DVR to make maximum effort to capture grants from all other sources to pay for training.

Even though DVR does not report training grant funding to the schools, students may be required to do so. DVR should work with students to fulfill all their reporting requirements and should discuss with students the possible consequences of sharing this information.
