Governor Doyle Announces Additional Assistance for Dislocated Workers at RBC Manufacturing Corporation, Grafton

Employment, training services for 21 workers displaced by foreign competition

MADISON – Governor Jim Doyle today announced that 21 dislocated workers at RBC Manufacturing Corporation, Grafton, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Regal Beloit Corporation, Grafton, Wisconsin, are eligible to apply for additional re-employment and training services under the federal Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA) program.

"I am pleased to announce the availability of this additional assistance, which will help workers increase their job skills and find new employment," Governor Doyle said. "These employment and training services will help them re-enter the workforce and support themselves and their families."

The U.S. Department of Labor has determined that former RBC Manufacturing Corporation workers were displaced due to foreign competition. Workers at the subject firm produce electric motors. The Department of Labor investigation revealed that a shift in production by the subject firm, to a foreign country, led to sales and production declines, resulting in layoffs at the subject firm.

All workers at RBC Manufacturing Corporation, Grafton, including on-site leased workers from SEEK Careers, who are engaged in employment related to the production of electric motors, totally or partially separated from employment on or after May 26, 2008, through October 19, 2011, are eligible to apply for assistance. Affected workers will be notified of meetings to discuss program benefits.

The Wisconsin Department of Workforce Development (DWD) will administer the federally funded services, which are available through local Job Centers. They include retraining and re-employment services tailored to meet the needs of individual workers. These workers can now apply for the following TAA services:

- Training for employment in another job or career,
- Income Support, known as trade readjustment allowances (TRA),
- Job Search Allowance to cover expenses seeking employment outside normal commuting areas, and
- Relocation Allowances for approved relocation expenses in moving to a new area of employment.

"These are services that we and our local partners can provide affected workers, to help connect them with employers in search of workers with the right skills," DWD Secretary Roberta Gassman said.

In June, Governor Doyle announced that the U.S. Department of Labor expanded the amount of TAA funds available nationwide to $575 million from $220 million as part of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) of 2009. The additional funding will help states serve an increasing number of trade-affected workers. More information on the TAA program is available at <http://www.doleta.gov>.

Individuals interested in receiving re-employment assistance should contact a local Job Center or visit <http://www.wisconsinjobcenter.org/directory/> to find a Job Center nearby. The nearest Job Center location also can be found by calling (888) 258-9966 toll free.
