An employer subject to the Wisconsin Worker's Compensation Act may not withhold or collect any money from employees or any other person to pay for worker's compensation insurance. To do so is illegal and involves monetary penalties. (ss. 102.16(3), 102.16(4) and 102.85(1), Wis. Stats.)

Whether workers are employees, independent contractors or subcontractors, they should not be paying for an employer's worker's compensation insurance premium. It is illegal to make any deductions or withhold any money from them for payment of worker's compensation insurance premiums. If any money is withheld from an employee or any other person for this purpose, it must be refunded promptly. If an employer fails to refund the money, an employee, independent contractor or subcontractor may request a hearing with the State of Wisconsin Worker's Compensation Division. Under section 102.16(4), of the Wisconsin Worker's Compensation Act, the Department has the authority to order reimbursement of sums illegally deducted.
